

When Craig and friends learned that 215 million children his age lived in abominable forced labour conditions...

... they formed Free The Children, the world's largest network of children helping children.

CRAIG KIELBURGER
As Craig was flipping through the newspaper looking for comics, he discovered an article about Iqbal Masih, an escaped child labourer who had become a children's rights activist. Shocked, he addressed his class at school. "I don't know what, but we have to do something. Who will join me?" Eleven hands went up and - Free The Children was born! Craig travelled to Asia, interviewed kids, reported back, spoke to Congress and on talk shows to raise awareness. What next? Stopping child labour at its root! When adults said it was hopeless, they did not listen. To date, their holistic Adopt-a-village program has built 550 schools and school rooms, medical clinics, clean water projects and alternative income projects in eight countries. Free The Children chapters exist in 4,000 schools, proving every day: "It Is Possible!"

... 215 million children are orphaned or abandoned.

... that we help them acquire full lives, and it is highly rewarding!"

... she spends summers at her grandparents' house, and traditions. For her, it includes volunteering at an orphanage, and decided to help by raising money. Now some Christmas events, went door to door, and their funds provide food, toys, school supplies, eye laser purifiers, sewing machines, libraries, computers, and more than $1 million! To extend help to more in the world, make now another gift of us to raise your website. Just register your cause, and start!

... of telling us that an environment is healthy, they warn us of a looming crisis.

... hope, we can heal our lakes and forests, our backyards and sing in chorus!

... my, give huge concerts, and teach us how to swim, I are also known as an indicator species, telling us our wetlands - which store and clean our water, by rich feeding grounds for myriads of animals. To this precious gift, Fairy Frogmother decided to shape a Earth's children in the shape of a ten year old girl, ting and memory of the ancient forest. Activist, speaker, activist, filmmaker and explorer all in one, it swamps, climbing forest trees, creating back-and teaching kids, always surrounded by frogs, cities with beautiful eyes! Axalon invites you to and protect your environment - with lots of fun!
